CALL ANDOVER 300 — NO TOLL CHARGE

J'ray

The Greeks had a border for it which we borrowed to soften the neckline of this classic nightie. Like the edging of the cap sleeves, it's sheerest, flesh-colored net . . . in lovely contrast to the fine batiste of the gown. This batiste is J'ray's own top quality . . . a quality available for the first time from American mills. In the prettiest pastels . . . pink, blue or maize, also in a rosebud pattern. Sizes 32 to 40.

Committee to Swing Into Action Next Week

The Veterans Housing committee laid plans at Thursday night's meeting for concerted action by the committee, the veterans, and the townspeople, and the plan will get under way next week, which has been designated by Governor Bradford as Veterans Housing Week.

Present at the meeting besides the committee members were: Sidney P. White who suggested possible sites for a housing development, Philip Allen who discussed possible state programs, and Miss Bertha Thomes who presented information regarding the Alderbrook estate on South Main street which has found it necessary to discontinue its program because of the lack of materials. Prices of the houses already completed have been slashed and may now be within the price range of veterans for whom the development was originally designed.

Howell Shepard, newly elected chairman, presided and emphasized the need for quick action in getting a program under way.

The committee investigated several proposed plans to meet the urgency and because of the dark picture of building low-cost homes, existing at the present time, plans for a new housing development were temporarily postponed.

TOWN TOPICS...

New Dump

A new portion of the town dump is to be opened up in order to alleviate the reasons for the complaints about the present arrangement. The new portion will be off Ledge road farther away from dwellings than the present tract. A bulldozer is leveling off the old area as far as possible, and the hole at the corner of Ledge road and Chandler road is being filled in to allow driving over this portion. Brush will be used to snare flying papers, and a temporary fence will be put up although this year's appropriation is not sufficient to provide much in this line.

Traffic Lights

A public hearing in connection with the traffic lights at the corner of Salem street and Main street, and Chapel avenue and Main street will be held by the selectmen in the courtroom of the town house Monday evening at 8. The hearing is held in response to complaints.

The lights usually flash green on Main street traffic and red on traffic onto Main street from the two side streets. The pedestrian red and yellow can be operated by pushbutton control.

The lights were installed several months ago to lessen the hazard from the possibility of student pedestrian accident.

Accountant's Assistant

Miss Agnes Deyermund has been appointed assistant to town accountant, George Napier, by the selectmen. Two veteran candidates had applied, but one withdrew and the other declined to accept since she is working elsewhere at a higher rate.

Radio Station

No opposition presented itself to the erection of towers for a radio broadcasting station in West Andover at a recent hearing. The towers and building will be erected near Haggetts pond. The selectmen will review definite plans for approval later.

Annual Meeting

The Andover League of Women Voters will hold its annual meeting at 12:45, May 6, at the home of Mrs. D. K. Webster, Sunset Rock Road. President of the Massachusetts League Mrs. Moses Lurie, will be the guest speaker and will present a review of the National League Council meeting.

Members are requested to bring a box lunch and dessert and coffee will be served.

Cancer Drive Still Receives Funds

Collections from industry and manufacturing to the American Cancer Society Drive held during April are being arranged for next week and it is expected that they will help to swell Andover's contribution so that it will more closely approach the quota of $3,000. It is expected that returns will be coming in from these sources through the first two weeks of May, and individuals who have not given or pledged their donations are requested to contact the chairman, Miss Elizabeth Buchan, 3 Lincoln street, Telephone 1195-J, and arrangements for collection will be made.

The drive that started out slowly at the beginning of the month has gained momentum during the last days and the final total will be announced later in the month.

Hospital Drive Extended a Week

Mrs. William T. Rich, Jr., general chairman of the Children's Hospital campaign for funds in Andover announced the receipt of $3,600.27 upon the official closing of the drive, April 30. However, for the convenience of those who prefer to draw bank checks after the first of the month, the fund will be held over another week, and contributions may be sent direct to Mrs. Rich, 57 Central street.

Vacation

School has adjourned for a week. Students are enjoying themselves at home, at summer places and many are working.

Report cards will be issued soon after our return, May 5.

Assembly

Last Thursday, the 24th, Mr. Harry C. White gave a demonstration of electrical phenomenon. He showed what sound LOOKS like and played a recording that he made when the moon was first contacted by radar.

Mr. White was working on the atomic bomb at Oak Ridge and he showed us samples of several radioactive materials. He also demonstrated "black light" and exhibited several beautiful hand-painted scarves under this light.

Baseball

Saturday's 5 to 1 win over Hyde Park High made it three straight for Phillips Academy's ball team, already victors over Everett and Lynn English. Pete Fleming of Middletown, N. Y., and Albion Wardwell of Pittsburgh shared the pitching honors in the Hyde Park game. The team showed some improvement in fielding over the 6-5 game with Lynn English on April 19. Forthcoming on April 30, is the game with the Harvard Freshmen, a real test of strength for Andover.

Track

Taking its second win in two tries, Andover's strong track squad racked up a score of 70 1-4 to 55 3-4 over the Brown Junior varsity. No especially outstanding performances were turned in. The previous Saturday, Andover defeated Fort Devens 88 1-5 to 37 4-5. On May 3, Andover will meet the Harvard Freshmen at Andover.

Lacrosse

Bouncing back after a bad beating in its opening game with the Boston Lacrosse club, Andover's club has racked up two decisive victories, taking the Tufts Freshmen at Medford, 12-2 and the Harvard Freshmen at Andover, 10-3. Outstanding players for Andover have been Captain Henry Scott of Easthampton, N. Y., Jim Mead of Erie, Pa., Sam Stowell of Larchmont, N. Y., and Spotty Wheaton of Stroudsburg, Pa.

Tennis

In its first match of the year, with the Harvard graduates, Andover's tennis squad was thoroughly outclassed, losing all matches.

Joint Concert

The glee clubs of Dana Hall School and Phillips Academy will give a joint concert on Saturday, May 3, at 8 p. m., in Bardwell Auditorium at Dana Hall in Wellesley. The program will include works by Handel, Mozart, Wagner and George Gershwin.

Dr. Pfatteicher

To Retire in June

Dr. Carl F. Pfatteicher, head of the Music Department at Phillips Academy, who this year will round out 35 years of service at Andover, will retire from Phillips Academy this coming June.

A graduate of Lafayette College, Dr. Pfatteicher has studied at Harvard where he received his Th.D. degree in 1922, and at the University of Freiburg, Germany, where he received his Ph.D. in 1931. He is widely known as an editor of hymnals and of sacred music, and is co-author with Mr. Claude M. Fuess, Headmaster, whose forthcoming retirement in 1948 was announced this week, of the "Phillips Hymn."

Dr. Pfatteicher's successor has not yet been announced.

Elected President

Mr. Emory S. Basford, chairman of the Phillips Academy English department, has been elected president of the New England association of teachers of English.

OUR COVER

The Punchard High School gym team did itself proud last Friday night in an exhibit that approached the proficiency of the Springfield show, held in the auditorium earlier in the season.

A marching routine, gymnastics with lighted Indian clubs, apparatus work, comedy and solo numbers were all part of the program that displayed the excellent training the boys receive in the physical education department under the direction of Donald Dunn. Especially praise-worthy was the wand drill pictured on our front cover.

Mr. Dunn recently received a special commendation from the Navy for his work at the Normandy beach-head during his wartime service.

VETS ARE VICTORS

The veterans who have been attending Punchard high school this year have again stepped forward with characteristic school spirit and formed a baseball club under the name of "Punchard Vets." The team is under the general management of Bill Heindreich, and "Deac" McGrath handles the publicity. Heading the capable coaching staff is Bernard Kellmurray of the faculty, better known to all as "the man in the guidance office." Coach Kellmurray is assisted by Don Becotte as field coach.

Coach Becotte has already guided his boys to one victory, in which the team defeated McIntosh school, 10-6. Two other games are scheduled at present. They will practice with the Phillips academy varsity at Philips this Thursday afternoon, and on May 14 at 3:00 p. m. they will play the academy Junior Varsity at Phillips.

Coaches Kellmurray and Becotte are looking the Greater Lawrence field over for other possible games, and if any ball club is interested in taking on the Vets, they are asked to telephone Mr. Kellmurray at Punchard, Andover 372, between 8 a. m. and 4 p. m. The line-up is as follows: 1b, Vinney Davey; 2b, Emil Schirner; 3b, Bob Creamer; ss, Bill Dyer; lf, Ray Lloyd; rf, Pete Smith; cf, Chet Jenkins; p, John Nicoll; c, Vincent Mitchell; f, Bob Gigas.

RED CROSS DRIVE

TOTALS $12,780.76

The Andover Red Cross Fund is now officially closed and the treasurer, Philip F. Ripley, has announced a total return from the drive of $12,780.76.

Andover's response to the American Red Cross has always been generous and the continued loyalty this year in topping the $8,000 quota is especially appreciated since it makes possible a greater amount of Red Cross assistance to many people of the country who have been stricken by disaster in the past several weeks.

A break-down of the fund shows the individual returns from the following sources:

Corporate Gifts.....	$ 1,537.00
Business	466.00
House to House.....	2,732.55
Group Enrollments...	913.21
Schools	2,524.59
Special Gifts.....	4,526.00
Miscellaneous	81.41

Total.....$12,780.76

If there are any citizens who have not contributed, they may do so by notifying Mrs. C. Edward Buchan, Telephone 1535, or by mailing their donation to Mr. Philip F. Ripley, 7 Abbot street.

Communications...

The Andover Townsman,
Elmer J. Grover, Editor.
Dear Mr. Grover:

In regard to a statement under the Editorial Heading, "Better Public Relations", I understand that you have induced Mr. Hardy to answer any questions relating to the various departments under the control of the Selectmen. I would be interested to have him answer the following questions truthfully, as he claims that a petition was presented to his Board for consideration in regard to plowing on Highland avenue:

1. Who was the sponsor of that petition?
2. When was that petition signed?
3. Where was that petition signed?
4. Give names of all, who signed that petition.
5. Give particulars of the two secret meetings held to consider that petition.
6. Can anybody damage private property without responsibility?
7. If so, why does the town maintain a public safety or Police Department?

As all the above questions are related to town affairs, under the present governing boards, I will await the answers to them with interest.

With many thanks for past favors I remain

Sincerely yours,

PETER S. MYATT

3 Highland Ave., Andover.

(We showed chairman Hardy the above letter, and he stated that several of the neighbors on Highland avenue had asked that it be plowed. The selectmen took all similar applications and approved many private ways, open to public use for plowing, in accordance with a recent town meeting vote and appropriation. Mr. Hardy stated that the selectmen visited the road eight times this year and saw no sign of the damage claimed by Mr. Myatt in communications to the board and the Townsman. On one occasion Mr. Hardy visited it with Mr. Myatt's lawyer, who, Mr. Hardy said, also agreed that there was no sign of damage. It is understood that at one time Mr. Wyatt refused to let the avenue be plowed, but that abutters complained to the police. The land on the road belongs to Mr. Myatt; houses along the road belong to others).

Intersection Dangerous

April 8, 1947

To the Selectmen

Dear Sirs:

The drive you are sponsoring to lessen the congestion in the square and in Main street, before there are serious accidents, only proves what I always said—that the town officials of Andover are always on the job.

It is quite a performance to drive through the square when double parking prevails. This drive should stop it now, and always. After one warning, offenders should be dealt with, but a most remarkable achievement is crossing North Main street on foot, at Harding and Stevens streets. There have been many serious accidents at these crossings in the past, and others could be avoided if the speed laws were enforced.

Last Friday night I witnessed a near smash-up when the 5:25 out of Everett station bus to Haverhill put on speed passing Harding street, passed two cars when it should have stopped at the corner to pick up three passengers, two wanting to go to Haverhill.

This is a common occurrence and should not be allowed to continue. This corner was considered busy and traveled enough years ago when autos were practically extinct to have electric cars come to a complete stop.

Just follow those Haverhill buses leaving the square about 20 minutes past the hour, and see them pick up speed after leaving the railroad bridge, when passengers are waiting at Harding street to board the bus.

It would be appreciated by me, and the workers in the Marland Mills and the other taxpayers in this neighborhood, if you could summons these offenders as a warning would do no good.

Yours Respectfully

ROBERT E. FRANZ,

185 North Main St.

In reply to the preceding letter to the selectmen, the following reply, regarding action to be taken was sent out from the office of the Board of Selectmen.

Dear Sir:

Upon receipt of your letter, I contacted Chief Dane, and he immediately gave Sergeant Nicoll instructions to work on the traffic situation at Main and Harding streets.

It is extremely difficult to get cooperation from the bus-drivers. Due to certain restrictions, the superintendent has very little control over the men and has advised us that an arrest by the Police Department is the only discipline that can be taken. This has been done at least once, the driver found guilty, fined and the appeal taken to the Superior Court. Superior Court threw the case out as inconsequential. This action dampens the enthusiasm of the Police Force, but they will certainly try it again, if they find a violation near your location.

Thanking you for your request and co-operation, I am,

Yours very truly,

ROY E. HARDY, Chairman
Board of Selectmen.

Inspecting, Engineering?

There's been a lot of grumbling about the building inspector's appointment made recently by the selectmen. In explaining their choice of Ralph Coleman, the selectmen stated that in their opinion he was the only one who could fill the qualifications of not being in the competitive contracting business and who was still near enough to the town house to alleviate the inconvenience of having to chase all around town.

It's a situation that for the present will probably have to be accepted; it's a situation that should be corrected for the future. It's something the selectmen, the finance committee and the Taxpayers' association might well look into for whatever action they may, after careful study, deem advisable.

The most desirable way of handling the whole inspection business, building, wire, plumbing, would be to combine the jobs under one permanent head, with an office in the town house. It might be well for some such individual as the town engineer to handle it all if the current study of his duties reveals to the Board of Public Works that they really need only part-time engineering. Then it wouldn't be necessary to hustle around to a funeral parlor, or a plumbing shop to get the necessary permits, etc. Town business could be done at the town house where it should be done, and some clerical assistance would be available.

We don't know the legal requirements, but we are tossing it forth as something that should be given some study. If we can save some money, and some inconvenience, let's do it.

A Little That Means a Lot

Lives are lost, even when there is no war; blood is precious for civilians as well as for soldiers and sailors.

If you've ever had anyone in your family who needed a blood transfusion, you're in a position to know the moments of anxiety, the scurrying around for friends and relatives who might be the right type. The blood bank plan is one which has helped immeasurably in reducing this very great worry; it can eliminate it if everyone who can, donates a pint of his blood.
In Andover we have an opportunity to be of service in this way next Wednesday. Why not call Andover 1496 now, and register as one who is willing to help.

The aim of the program is to be able to provide blood and blood products free to everyone in the Commonwealth. Until the program gets underway on a large scale, it will not be possible to achieve that aim at the moment. For the present, however, whole blood will be provided for donors and their immediate families. Therefore, from a purely selfish standpoint, it would be well for at least one member of every family to answer the call.

It's very little to do; it's worth a great deal.

Ultra-Violet Lamps To Be Installed Soon

The parents of the Stowe and Jackson pupils will be asked by letter on May 5 to contribute to the sum necessary to install ultra-violet lamps in the classrooms. The two first grade rooms have been chosen for the first installation because of their high sickness rate. Installation will be undertaken in other rooms as soon as enough money becomes available.

Statistics show that pupils in rooms with ultra-violet irradiation have 50 to 80% fewer colds than those without the lamps.

The Central Parent Teacher association is sponsoring the undertaking.

AT ABBOT...

Birthday Bazaar Rain or Shine

Rain or shine, the annual Abbot Birthday Bazaar and Tea Room will be ready for customers on Saturday afternoon, May 3. Weather permitting, the Abbot Circle will be flanked by gaily decorated booths well stocked with a great variety of things to sell. The booths are as follows: The Abbot Booth, Miss Friskin, Chairman; China, Miss Mildred Hatch; Czechoslovakia, Miss Pauline Anderson; World Student Service Fund, Miss Dorothy Baker; France and Greece, Mlle. Germaine Arosa; Food, Mrs. Mervin Stevens; White Elephant, Miss Jane Sullivan; Flowers, Miss Humes, Miss Kaatz, Mrs. Reeves; Soft Drinks and Candy, Miss Hilda Baynes; The Wishing Well, Miss Edith Grassi; Fortune Telling, Miss McKee.

The bazaar committees who will supervise the events of the day, and have general responsibility for the comfort and pleasure of patrons are: Hospitality: Miss Humes, Mrs. Reeves; Admissions: Miss Isabel Hancock; Entertainment: Miss Harriet McKee, Miss Eleanor Tucker, Miss Idanella McMurry; The Tea Room: Miss Elaine Dodge and Miss Hope Coolidge.

The Scottish Band will be on hand to give splendid music. There will be games, and free shows, and free exhibitions with Abbot girls to guide the visitors from one attraction to another.

The tea room opens at 3:30. Most of the free shows (in Davis Hall) will go on at 3:00 o'clock.

The proceeds from the bazaar are to go partly to the World Student Service Fund, contributions to which fund last year Abbot academy gave the top figure among private secondary schools; and part will go to local causes which have benefitted annually from the Abbot Birthday Bazaar.

The chairman of the Bazaar Committee is Miss Louise Coffin. Miss Coffin reports that response from Andover and Lawrence merchants to the cause has been notably generous and cooperative. Abbot Academy feels that it could not have the Birthday Bazaar without the cooperation of the community, and Miss Coffin and spokesman expresses great appreciation to all who are helping to make the fair a success.

High Lights

The school calendar is full for the closing weeks, and offers some of the highlights of the session: Mr. Howe's organ recital will be heard in Davis Hall on Sunday evening, May 11. On May 17, Mrs. Wilma Kirby-Smith, Dean of Radcliffe College will speak to the Cum Laude candidates, and to the students and faculty. Visitors are cordially invited to come to hear Mrs. Kirby-Smith's address.

Vespers

The vespers service on Sunday evening will be in charge of Miss Kate Friskin and the Abbot Choir of which she is the director.

Mrs. MacLachlan Awarded Carnegie Hero Medal

Mrs. Marion (Fettes) MacLachlan of 22 Haverhill street, Shaw-sheen, was awarded the bronze medal for heroism, one of 15 similar national honors presented by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission which made its decision at the annual spring meeting held in Pittsburgh.

Surprised and pleased at the national recognitions of her heroic rescue of three children at Salisbury beach last summer, the young housewife and mother of two children described the circumstances of her quick and daring act on August 5, 1946 which prompted the decision of the commission.

"I was walking along the sands of North Salisbury beach on August 5 last summer with my two children, Andrea, 9, Carol, 2 1-2, and Mrs. Gladys Wright of Holt road, Andover when two young children informed us that three other children were drowning in the ocean.

"Racing to the water's edge we saw that the surf was extremely rough and three children were floundering in high waves some 150 yards from shore. One of the girls' mothers was standing hysterical in the shallow waters. She told us that the current had sucked the children out to sea. She asked if I could swim.

"I kicked off my sneakers and dove into the water in my shorts and sweater. About 100 yards from shore I overtook the first child, Libbiem Fleet, 24 Irene st., Lawrence. She appeared to be a fair swimmer but was panicky with fright. I told her to lay over on her back and float until she was rested. She did as I suggested and seemed in the least danger of the three children. The Fleet girl managed to stay on top of the water and made shore on her own power.

"About 150 yards from shore I overtook the other two children, Cynthia W. Conley, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Conley of 63 Lowell street and Charlotte White, 13, 51-Florence ave., Lawrence. Both children were clutching to each other in frantic fright when I reached them.

"I told them to break their grip on each other and lie over on their backs. I placed both children under my arms and kicked my way into shore.

Former Child Champion

"It was a long grueling swim under such conditions. The waves were about four feet high—the surf was very rough — seaweed clogged the ocean. When I reached shore someone took the children from my grasp. I tried to get up on my feet but collapsed on the sand. They removed me to my summer cottage on a stretcher.

"I have always been a good swimmer," Mrs. MacLachlan admitted. "When I was thirteen years old I swam with the Boston Swimming Association. I won the New England 50 yard championship when I was 14 years of age. I first became interested in swimming as a young child at Pomp's Pond, in Andover when Former Andover Police Officer Frank McBride took an interest in me and showed me the tricks of the trade.

"My husband, Andrew J. MacLachlan is a fisherman with the fleet out of Boston. We just take to the water naturally.

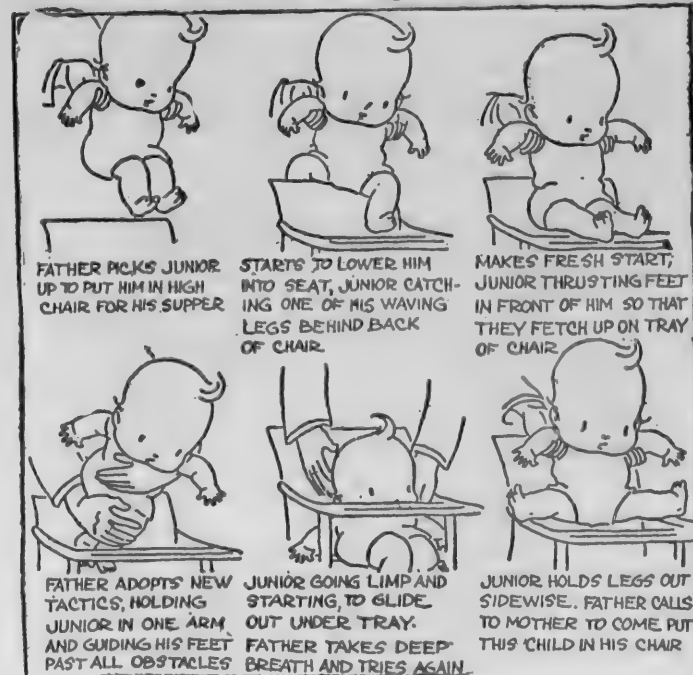

"I knew nothing of this award until about two weeks ago when two men who said they were from Chicago and represented the Carnegie Hero Award Commission visited my home and asked me a slew of questions relating to the rescue. I understood later that they checked with all parties concerned with the rescue and visited the scene at Salisbury Beach. I think the mother of one of the girls whom I rescued, handed in my name to the commission.

"About two months ago I received a beautiful medal from the Humane Society of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts for my part in the rescue.

"It has all been very nice and wonderful but for me the best reward arrived when I saw those children safe and sound and alive. It's a funny thing this being a hero," she said. "At the time you don't think anything about it. You just go ahead and do what you'd expect someone else to do for your children."

Communication From Across The Sea

To Andover's Mayor

From: Miss V. E. Lawes, "Eastwood," Perham Down, Nr. Andover, Hants, and Miss J. F. Price, 7, Penning Road, North Tidworth, Hants.
13th March, 1947

Dear Mr. Mayor,

Last year the Mayor and Mayor-ess of Andover, Hampshire, visited your town, and ever since then we people of America and England we have been thinking how nice it would be to correspond with some one there. We live about eight or ten miles from Andover and also went to the Grammar School there for five years, so we are fairly well acquainted with the town.

We are twenty years of age, and both work in the same office. Violet likes going to the pictures, but I would far rather see a good play when possible. I play the piano and organ, whereas Violet collects Gramophone records, both classical and swing. Neither of us smoke, nor have we any regular boy-friends.

Knowing that already many lasting friendships have been made by hoped that you might help us to strengthen these "hands across the sea", by putting us in touch with two people of our own age, of either sex.

Best wishes from Andover, England,

Yours sincerely,
Violet and Joan.

Science and the Weather

Mark Twain's famous crack, "Everybody talks about the weather, but nobody does anything about it," is a dead duck. Plenty is being done about it. In fact, General Electric company and the army signal corps have signed contracts to do something about it.

Papers were signed the other day for a war on fog, rain and snow in which science and army B-29 bombers will cooperate in an all-out drive to blitz bad weather. It will begin over aviation fields, with fog the No. 1 foe. But scientists predict a day when the "manipulation of giant natural forces will control weather everywhere."

It all began when scientists flew over Greylock mountain in Massachusetts last year, dropping six pounds of dry ice pellets at 14,000 feet, which produced artificial snow. Experiments have continued until it may almost be said that science has weather in the bag.

"There's a fog over our airport. Take an order to remove it right away," is about to become a routine message.

Ultimately a man who wants a fog can, by a reverse process, get it. A ski course operator can order his snow direct. If your lawn is burning up, the time may come when you can wire a local weather service station and have a shower delivered the same day.

The man of tomorrow, planning a picnic, a field day or a parade will arrange with Schenectady for suitable weather.

All of which, we suppose, represents wonderful progress. However, the outlook is not all milk and honey. We have moods where we like fog or snow or rain and we don't want the man next door fixing to ruin a nice gloomy spell just because he wants sunshine.

WHERE TO GO...AND WHEN

Ducking the Issue

With Mother's Day approaching, May 7, and all the shop windows displaying special gifts for a special person, I'm wondering whether it would be suitable to bestow a present on one who is a mother by proximity only. The individual I am thinking of is halfway between a duckling and a duck or a drake, with part of his or her coat being made of golden fuzz and part of it, in sprinkles, being quilly-looking things that will eventually be feathers. This individual is short of a month old, but the maternal instinct is already as prominent as his (or her) splashy yellow feet.

It began to grow the day a large cardboard box was placed next to his or hers containing, three ducklings, half as young, but only one third as large. From that moment on he or she considered himself or herself (this is getting monotonous; let's settle for masculine pronouns) the sole guardian and protector of his smaller counterparts, although there has been really nothing to protect them from, except the periodical supplies of food and water that seem to be too periodical to please them.

He has taken to sleeping beside their box and at meal-time he hangs his beak over the side so fascinated by their table manners that he forgets his own hunger. Their table manners, incidentally, are not of the best. They are far happier with one foot in their drinking water and the other in their food than they are standing on ceremony and in this the self-appointed mother offers no criticism, perhaps because his own manners are not above reproach.

He has reached the point now where he doesn't even allow the provider and performer of the frequently necessary house-cleaning duties to handle one of his charges. When liberties of that kind are taken, he attacks ankles, unties shoe laces, or makes his disapproval known in loud, off-key peeps that are a cross between an immature honk and a quack.

When they are quiet and content, he devotes his time to pridefully watching over them or catching a little shut-eye but when they start screaming about the time and when is soup on, he adds a louder and angrier voice that cannot long be disregarded by members of the household.

He's a queer duck but, that is not a complaint. My problem is: should he be honored on May 7 or June 15?

The Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo gracefully performed at George Washington Hall Thursday night in a program consisting of three well-known ballets, "Les Sylphides", "Rodeo", and the sprightly "Gaité Parisienne". The company is one of those formed when Colonel de Basil's original Monte Carlo group split up and with Frederick Franklin and the incomparable Alexandra Danilova as its stars, it has been performing authentic and high-grade ballet in America for several years.

Reunion

The Punchard Alumni banquet committee met Monday night to make plans for the annual reunion to be held June 14 and a special effort is being made to renew the spirit of pre-war days when the banquet was one of the outstanding affairs of the season.

The committee is trying something new this year in holding the banquet on a Saturday night in order that alumni from out-of-town will find it convenient to attend. Even the menu will be different. A roast tenderloin dinner will be served by Hicks of Lynn.

Music, an outstanding speaker and toastmaster will be included in the attractions and the classes holding reunions are especially urged to attend. The price of the tickets will probably be $2.00 and they will go on sale within two weeks' time. Make your reservations now, either through members of the committee which includes James Doherty, Irving J. Whitcomb, David McDonald, Bessie Dantos, Ruth Anderson and Betty Buchan or through the president of your class.

Costume Party

An old-fashioned costume party will be held in the Bradlee school on Thursday evening, May 8, under the sponsorship of the Ballardvale Parent Teacher association. The public is promised a good time and music for dancing will be furnished by "Tim" Hag-

Toy Towners

The Toy Town minstrels will present their annual show under the sponsorship of the Friendly Guild at 8:00 on May 2 and 3 at the Ballardvale community room. Thirty-five children from 10 to 17 years of age are taking part under the able direction of Mrs. Ralph Sharpe and Miss Doris Shaw. Mrs. George Keith is the pianist.

The show has a toy shop as its unique setting with the endmen including John Gillis, Alston O'Hara, Richard Stevens, Robert Mitchell, John Ness and Arthur White, appearing as toy soldiers. Arlene Stevens will act as interlocutor.

Specialty numbers will be featured by life-size dolls. The older group will be composed of Ruth Mears, Mary Elizabeth Green, Harriet Schofield, James Butler, Dickie Lawrence, Lucile Sherry, Charleen Worthen, Doris Nicoll and James Donovan. The younger group of Trail Blazers, will be Diane Mitchell, Peggy Perry, Margaret Buckley, Nancy White, Raymond Nolin, Donald Ness, Jimmy Green, Paul McFarland, Ralph Sharpe, and Bobby Lakin.

Alfred Duke, Norman LaMay, Kevin Donovan, Ann McFarland, Francis Buckley, Joan Buckley, David McFarland, Donald MacMillan, Patricia Burgeron, Billy Shaw and Joyce Ormsby will be in the chorus.

Rehearsals have been coming along exceptionally well and an outstanding program is predicted.

Square Dance

The last square dance class, in the series being sponsored by the West Parish Men's Club, will be held in the Vestry, Friday, May 9 at 8:15. The Boxford orchestra will furnish the music with Joe Perkins giving the instructions and calling the changes.

Famous Harpist

It's too late to attend but some interesting information has been sent to us from a Melrose reader concerning the appearance of Miss Virginia Morgan at Boston Symphony Hall on April 13. Miss Morgan's playing was featured in the third selection of the program, "Death and Transfiguration" by Richard Strauss. She played the harp with the San Francisco symphony orchestra under the direction of Monsieur Pierre Monteux.

Before studying music in this country and abroad, our reader tells us that Miss Morgan lived in Andover as a small child and went to the public schools here. Perhaps other readers will remember the very-blond-haired child in the fifth grade who helped lead the Armistice Day procession of the first World War and who could climb trees better than any one else in the neighborhood. She lived at the Rose Tea cottage at the corner of Chestnut and Central streets and later at the house now occupied by the Sjostroms on Main street.

Her mother, after leaving Andover took Virginia, the youngest and her two oldest sisters, Frances, a violinist, and Marguerite, pianist, abroad and prepared them for the concert stage. During their study and debut they played for royalty and other prominent persons. For a time they played as "The Morgan Trio" and presented a very charming program at George Washington Hall more than ten years ago.

It was the realization of 25 years ambition to return to Boston and to play at Symphony hall. She was recently married and will make her home in Connecticut but will continue her career during the symphony year. Her hobby is the collection of an amazing assortment of harp trinkets, jewelry and ornaments.

Textile Panorama Compares Old And New In Design And Technique

The Addison Art gallery of Phillips academy this week began its showing of a textile panorama comprised of materials of both ancient and modern design. The display, which will remain at the gallery until mid-June, features selected pieces of ancient textile art, most of which were borrowed from the original exhibit shown at the Rhode Island School of Design, to which have been added modern textile products from the looms of Textron, Marland Mills, Pacific and Arlington Mills, M. T. Stevens and other manufacturers in this area.

Among the earliest fabrics shown are Coptic fragments dating back to 300 A. D., early Peruvian fabrics, Near Eastern, Arabic and Byzantine, Persian and Turkish textiles, as well as a wide range of Italian, French, and Spanish brocades, velvet and embroideries from the 15th to the 18th centuries. Accompanying information regarding the methods used in weaving the materials can be compared with modern machine techniques and to simplify the study of how different materials and designs are created, 12 basic weaves found in textiles of all periods are displayed on large frames as they appear under the microscope. Samples of each material are shown with the magnified models.

The modern section displays dress and decorators' fabrics manufactured in America in which natural and synthetic fibers are used, and featured are silks designed by Brooke Cadwallader, who chooses everything and anything from tacks and nails to monkeys, octopus and a pictorial history of trains from 1800 to 1947 in his textile compositions. Some of the designs made exclusively for certain merchants have already been closed out but may be purchased at the gallery at retail prices.

Brooke Cadwallader graduated in the class of 1929 from the academy and in 1931 and 32 taught painting and drawing at the school before formal classes in these arts were introduced as part of the curriculum. Also designed by Cadwallader and on sale at the gallery are dashing silk scarves shown with costumes and accessories loaned by Cherry and Webb.

Another famous designer whose craft is exhibited is Dorothy Liebes whose drapery materials bear out her feeling that "every day living can be enriched with textiles which add color, design and texture to the environment of daily life". More subtle in the use of color to represent her subject, her "Spring Plowing" catches the shades of rich earth and sunlight and her "raspberry soda" tempts the palate.

As modern as the modern designs are, they hark back to early Egyptian craft and comparisons are made that emphasize the question, "How old is modern?"

The Gallery's director, Bartlett H. Hayes, Jr., arranged for the local showing of selections from the Rhode Island exhibit and secured pieces of modern design completing the ancient and modern panorama because of the many people in the area who are interested in textiles and their development. However, the nature of the show is not purely technical. Designers, professional or domestic, people who like to delve into the history and lives of ancient peoples or those who merely like the "feel of a good material", will enjoy the experience of perusing, comparing and perhaps even purchasing some of the fabrics which have a rightful claim to extravagant adjectives.

Belles Without Rings

"The Belles of the Gay Nineties", a comedy to be presented in the Shawsheen school hall May 1 and 2 by the dramatic department of the Shawsheen Village Woman's club, is the story of a widow's efforts to marry her three unwed daughters into money. Mrs. Wallace Fiedler plays the role of the designing mother, Mrs. Bounderfield. Her plans come to an impasse when her oldest daughter, Katie Greenhouse ably done by Mrs. Phillip A. Costello, puts several flies in the ointment when she arrives unannounced with her entire family of 5 small rascals.

Mrs. G. Edgar Best fulfills the difficult task of a friend of the family just arrived from Paris, stage name Alicia North, who flaunts her oo-la-la's before anyone who will listen. There is also a very busy busy-body, Mrs. Fisher, played by Mrs. Walter E. Caswell, who insists upon being let in on all the family secrets.

Mrs. William G. Thompson as Agnes Bounderfield, or spelled back-wards Senga as she prefers to be called, was recently jilted and she takes to writing poetry to get it out of her system. She is a very melancholic person, day-dreams and bursts into tears over the simplest trifles. Love at last blooms again for her in the very ordinary but, oh so appreciative of her talents, the town butcher.

Lydia Bounderfield, the second unmarried daughter with no romantic notions, is a would-be artist, desperately painting a picture of her dreamy-eyed sister, Senga. Mrs. Walter C. Wilson portrays Lydia, the calm and practical member of the family.

Millicent Bounderfield, the youngest and prettiest of the daughters, played by Mrs. Leslie S. Joffe, has a wonderful time of it in a very colorful romance with one of the town's most eligible bachelors and is in keen competition with the Alicia North. When she tells her mother of how "The Man" kissed her right in the middle of Main street she shocks the entire family—but she gets her man!

Katie and her brood make a timely arrival when her mother has just received a note from the bank stating that there will be no more checks forthcoming and the difficulties pile up, some of them on the bed of Bridget, the cook, played by Mrs. Joseph A. Mulvey, who has a hot Irish temper. Mrs. Sherman Locke as Julia, the maid, takes it as long as she can and ups and quits.

Billy Edwards, Teddy Dwyer and David Best romp through the scenes as Katie's mischievous sons who add three-fold to the upheaval.

Mrs. William K. Edwards is the director and is ably assisted by Mrs. Charles E. Fowler, prompter, and Mrs. Hiram Young.

AT THE LIBRARY . . .

Open Meeting at The Library

On Monday evening, May 5, at 8 o'clock, there will be a second open meeting at the Memorial Hall Library. The subject under discussion is "What's Ahead for the Good Neighbor Policy?" Mr. Jose A. Godoy will be the leader for the discussion. Mr. Godoy was born in Lima, Peru, and spent the early years of his life there. When still a boy, he had taken several trips with his father, the longest one being a voyage to Spain. This was the beginning of an extensive travel program throughout the South American countries, all of which added to a keen interest and insight into the manners and customs of these peoples.

After a brief try at journalism in Lima, Mr. Godoy came to Hyannis and entered the State Teachers College. For many years Mr. Godoy was engaged in the export business in Boston. In addition to his business activities, he serves as director of the Inter-American programs broadcast short-wave to South America over station WRUL, and has conducted Spanish classes, for the past three years, at the Pan American society at Newbury street. He has greatly aided the program of Inter-American cooperation and has brought to many a New England audience a picture of the manners, customs and backgrounds of our South American neighbors. Mr. Godoy is now the consul of Peru.

As usual, the public is cordially invited to attend.

CONSIDER PLANS FOR FUTURE SUPPORT OF DISTRICT NURSES

At a meeting of the officers and committee chairman of the Andover District Nurse's Association held in the Board of Health office Tuesday night, Mrs. Frederick Butler gave a report on the average annual cost of supporting a District Nurse for the town at present financed by the local chapter of the Red Cross but which will come under the new association at the close of the year. Mrs. Leitch reported on the procedure of District Nursing supplied by the Lawrence General hospital and a general discussion of the two possible methods followed.

It was decided to hold a meeting of the complete membership of the association on Tuesday evening, May 20, with speakers present to describe the Lawrence General hospital plan as well as a plan supported separately by the town. The meeting will be open to the general public to allow spokesmen interested in the project to present their views to the association.

SCHEDULE OF FARE CHANGES EFFECTIVE SUNDAY, MAY 4, 1947

In previous advertisements, we have told you that everything needed to provide your transit service now costs more. There has been no general upward change in our fare structure in 27 years. But buses can't run on "red ink." Service so far during 1947 has been provided at a loss to your transit system. We want and intend to give you improved and widened transportation facilities. To meet the directives of State laws which say that we shall set a fare schedule which will meet the cost of the service, the following changes have become necessary. We have tried to make increases as moderate as possible. We feel that you will understand our situation, and that we will continue to merit your patronage.

GENERAL

Special 5c cash fare zones changed to 6¼c tickets (4 rides for 25c) or 10c cash. Present 10c cash fares remain unchanged.

Ride-all-Day Adults' Tickets increased from $1.00 (plus 15c tax) total $1.15, to $1.09 (plus 16c tax) total $1.25.

Ride-all-Day Children's Tickets remain at 50c.

EXCEPTION:

Children over 5 and under 12 years, one-half regular adult one-way cash fare. Minimum 5c, raised when necessary so that the fare will be divisible by 5.

STUDENTS' TICKETS:

Remain at one-half the regular adult one-way cash fare. Minimum 5c. Good only on days when school is in session. Students becoming 21 years of age during a school year will be allowed to use these tickets for the remainder of the school year.

ANDOVER:

Weekly Pass changed from $1.00 to $1.25.
The 14 rides for $1.00 ticket (7.14c per ride) will be changed to 12 rides for $1.00 (8.33c per ride).

Silver Arrow Route to Everett Station: between Andover and Everett Station or Malden Sq., one-way fare changed from 48c (plus 7c tax) total 55c, to 52c (plus 8c tax) total 60c.
